Stories from Syrian Refugees | Jordan Cross Border

Suaad

“This is my third pregnancy; in the first and second ones I lost the fetus in the sixth month. As a result, I was really afraid of losing the fetus in my third pregnancy, so I decided to go to a special doctor from the very beginning of this pregnancy, especially when I learned that I was pregnant with triplets. I decided to do so to avoid losing the pregnancy, because if that happened I would feel very upset and hopeless about being pregnant again. Because of the conflict we are living in poor conditions, especially as my husband lost his leg in the bombings, leaving my family without a breadwinner. I went to Al Noor hospital, which was accessible to me and has a good reputation for providing a high level of care, especially for poor people. In the hospital, they followed up on my case and helped me with transport. After a while, I came to the hospital in labour, and the staff examined me and then helped me to deliver. I delivered two girls and a boy. The pediatrician examined them and they were in good health. They spent 24 hours in the incubator here at Al Noor hospital and then they were sent to the incubators department in the city centre. The following day, they did some tests and examinations for me and found I was in good health too. Then they sent me home after giving me my delivery present and urging me to come back to the hospital after two weeks for a checkup.”

STORIES FROM SYRIAN REFUGEES

JORDAN

Nemaa

“I was doing household work when I felt contractions and my water broke. My husband took me to the UNFPA supported clinic in Zaatari Camp. My labour was difficult, I did not deliver easily; after hours and hours, I gave birth to a baby girl, but my baby was not well. The midwives said that the baby had breathing problems. That was when the pediatrician there took the baby promptly and began treating her. After the baby was stabilised, the doctor referred her to Mafraq hospital where we were taken in an ambulance.” Nemaa ended by saying: “I am so grateful at how well the team at the Zaatari clinic took care of me and my baby. Due to their prompt action my baby is healthy now.”

Dr. Hasan narrates: “The midwives called me to the delivery room when the mother was in the late stage. I made sure that the resuscitation table and all the equipment was ready as usual. When examining the baby, it became apparent that she had a low Apgar score and she was diagnosed as a case of respiratory distress which needs urgent referral.” The doctor continued: “We directly arranged for her referral. I am glad the baby is healthy now.”

Raed

“Seventeen-year-old Raed (name changed for protection) lives with his parents and sisters in Za’atari Camp. He dropped out of school four years ago and has not wanted to return. He found out about the Youth Centre from some of his friends who regularly participate in activities. Raed came to visit one day, and loved the space and the wide range of activities that the centre offers. After completing basic orientation, Raed started taking part in arts activities, which were what most interested him. Raed had a particular interest in Arabic calligraphy. The calligraphy trainer quickly noticed that Raed had an incredible eye and talent for calligraphy and a creative spirit. In the space of 15 days of training, Raed became highly skilled in line calligraphy.

Raed connects with calligraphy because he feels it is a beautiful way of expressing language. For him, it is a unique intersection of art and language. He hopes to continue to study calligraphy, and to introduce his friends to some of the concepts he has learned.

TURKEY

Huda

Huda arrived to IMPR (UNFPA partner NGO) Humanitarian’s Women’s Community Centre in Sanliurfa Turkey, seeking assistance as she was sick and had suffered previously from a medical condition. Huda had suffered while crossing the border illegally to enter Turkey from the city of Aleppo. She was newly married, feeling frustrated and in a difficult psychological state of mind, but she was delighted when, after a couple of months, she became pregnant.

Sadly, this joy turned to sadness, depression and a severe nervous breakdown when she learned that her baby suffered from defects, including microcephaly.

Huda visited several doctors, who confirmed the problems, and her pregnancy lasted only five months: she experienced pain in her stomach and bleeding and went to the Dogum Hospital, where she lost her baby.

After this, Huda heard about the Women’s Community Centre in Sanliurfa, and she received a warm welcome when she visited. She decided to share her story with us, talking about her problems and experiences and her interest in regularly visiting the centre. At the time, she was suffering from menstrual disorders, so she underwent tests at the centre and received all the treatment she needed.

Huda left the centre after her first day feeling comfortable, and she became a regular visitor. After two visits, the staff in the centre worked with Huda to regulate her menstrual period and eventually she became pregnant again.

Although Huda was very happy, she was also afraid and nervous that her previous experience would be repeated. Service providers at the Women’s Community Centre reassured her that with regular checkups and medication, she would have a safe pregnancy.

Now, she is in her sixth month of pregnancy, and she and her baby are in very good health, which has encouraged her to feel better. She refused to go for checkups anywhere except the centre in Sanliurfa, as it is the only place where she feels comfortable and safe. She regularly attends the centre and expressed her gratitude for the centre’s work.
COORDINATION & CAPACITY BUILDING

LEBANON

UNFPA with the Ministry of Social Affairs co-chaired the national monthly SGBV task force meeting where priorities for the sectorial development of the Lebanon Crisis Response Plan (LCRP) 2017-2020 were discussed.

UNFPA supported a three-day regional training on the IASC guidelines for integrating gender-based violence (GBV) interventions, which was attended by 15 participants from different sectors. This initiative is expected to enhance GBV mainstreaming into strategies, including the 2017-2020 LCRP response and implementation in the concerned sectors.

An inter-agency GBV information management system national coordinator hosted by UNFPA started her assignment in September to support the evidence-based LCRP SGBV sector chapter development, roll-out of the new information-sharing protocol and closing of the inter-agency Canadian project managed by UNFPA.

TURKEY

UNFPA attended UNHCR protection committee and the health sector working group meetings in Gaziantep.

UNFPA attended the Disaster and Emergency Management Authority (AFAD) coordination meeting in Şanlıurfa and presented the agency’s activities to the participants.

UNFPA took part in a training on the protection framework and referral mechanisms organised by UNHCR in Izmir, Turkey. A SGBV sectorial presentation was provided and the activities, success, challenges and way forward were discussed.

TURKEY- Cross Border

The GBV sub-cluster conducted a training on GBV psychosocial support (PSS) and a training of trainers on the standard operating procedures.

The GBV sub-cluster conducted the third learning session in Gaziantep, where six persons participated. In addition, the sub-cluster conducted a training on GBV psychosocial support (PSS) and a training of trainers on the standard operating procedures (SOPs).

UNFPA contributed to a guidance paper for the key protection considerations in the provision of humanitarian assistance for the Syrian city of Manbij.

The GBV sub-cluster concluded the first phase of the capacity building initiative and launched the second phase targeting health service providers.

JORDAN

The reproductive health sub working group (SWG) chaired by UNFPA discussed the planning process for the third response plan in Jordan in coordination with the health task force that is chaired by the Ministry of Health and in coordination with UNHCR and WHO. The reproductive health SWG also discussed the finalisation of reproductive health core messages, the revised terms of reference and the mapping template for reproductive health services in host communities.

In its capacity as youth task force co-chair, UNFPA contributed to the Norwegian Refugee Council (NRC)/REACH youth assessment planning process by facilitating coordination of a small group to support NRC/REACH.

UNFPA also facilitated an ad-hoc visit for Shiekha Hissa from Qatar with members of the youth task force in Zaatari camp.
CHALLENGES

TURKEY
Economic problems faced by Syrian refugees still hinder them from reaching or participating in activities.
The security threat outside the borders of Turkey has had an indirect negative impact on the on-going programme.
The language barrier is still limiting access to some of the services especially in the field of health (lack of Arabic speaking psychologists, social workers, doctors, etc.).

SYRIA
The escalating fight has left between 250,000 to 275,000 people, including women and youth, in eastern Aleppo in urgent need of protection and humanitarian assistance including reproductive health services.
Limited ability to monitor the developmental and humanitarian response programs in hard-to-reach and besieged areas due to deteriorated security conditions

"Whenever I come to the centre, I feel like a flying butterfly," said a girl who benefits from services in a UNFPA-supported women and girl safe space in Aleppo.

"The safe space has become my second home," said one Syrian woman who benefits from one of the UNFPA women safe spaces in Greater Cairo.

Deteriorated security conditions do not allow the humanitarian actors to transport humanitarian aid to hard-to-reach and besieged areas
Depleted local markets of reproductive health supplies is a key challenge that hinders the delivery of quality lifesaving reproductive health services, including safe delivery, especially in unsafe and hard-to-reach areas.

IRAQ
There is a continuing lack of resources to sustain the on-going programmes.

EGYPT
Some Syrian women are unable to attend the activities offered at the women safe space due to lack of financial resources to pay for the transportation needed to reach these places.
